

The Incident and Injury-Free (IIF) Safety Management Approach

Open Concepts is committed to operating Incident & Injury-Free wherever our group has a presence. To achieve our Incident & Injury-Free vision, it is crucial that we provide our people with the right tools to deliver safe outcomes via safety management.

Our Incident and Injury-Free (IIF) safety approach challenges the status quo that incidents and injuries are simply a “part of the job”. This “transformation” approach results in a breakthrough performance consistent with an authentic commitment to work without Injuries or incidents.

The IIF approach is an integral approach to addressing safety. Not only does the IIF approach lead to a safer workplace more productive, and stronger relationships with our business partners.

Committed and Active Leadership – As part of our safety efforts, we hold ourselves and others to account to our Incident & Injury-Free vision. Encouraging all to challenge the status quo to improve our safety strategies.

Education and Training – Safety training ensures business partners, contractors, and employees receives appropriate technical training to work safely. These programs are designed to communicate, consult and involve employees and business partners in the ongoing improvement of our safety performance.

Open Concepts is committed to applying the principles of Incident & Injury Free to all our day to day business activities. Accordingly, our safety management system will be continually monitored.
